

AROUND the TOWNSHIP

By Henry Alderman

Of doubtful value was the novelty of frozen water pipes which the township experienced last Friday. Cars with frozen radiators kept many persons home during the cold snap, unparalleled since 1932 when snow fell on the lowlands here. Several local people complained of chilblains.

Chick Burdick is still feeling low about the New Year's party he planned but did not go on. He and "some of the boys" were all set to welcome 1937 in the proper manner. Unfortunately, their wives got wind of it and put the kibosh on it. Chick had to stay home and listen to the radio.

The big circulation campaign will be over next week and a good thing, too. Two contestants' husbands are threatening to leave them if they don't quit running around after subscribers.

Why is it that out-of-state friends arrive for a visit when the weather is bad? They never fail to come when they can pooh pooh the California climate.

"I see by your paper where your circulation campaign folks are piling up votes in the millions," commented Hen Noonsummer the other day. "Looks as though the winner is gonna get more ballots than President Roosevelt."

Steve Straub was out picking oranges off the family orange tree the other day when he picked a bat by mistake. The little creature was asleep and did not retaliate in any way. The Straub family took the creature to its bosom and named it Dracula. At Mrs. Straub's insistence, Steve took Dracula over to Pop Gould at the high school for psychoanalysis. Pop told Steve it was a very ordinary specimen, ate insects for a living and would injure itself in the glass jar which had become its home. Steve turned it loose.

Frank Duarte has had so many calls about his recent editorial, "Are Women Lazier?" which appeared in last week's Register, that he has opened an office in the Niles market to take care of his correspondence.

The office is so small that he'll have to hold his stenographer on his lap.

President-elect Lawrence Sharpe and his aides will be installed at the meeting.

Robinson is expected to speak briefly on the plans of Township residents to keep the present highway and bridge of Alameda creek open after the new highway is completed next year. Robinson has been retained by a citizens volunteer committee of Niles. Sharpe will speak on the Junior Chamber plans for the coming year and Viveiros will outline accomplishments of the group during the year 1936.

GEO. BONDE BUYS OUT LUMBER CO.

NILES—The announcement that all details of his acquisition of sole ownership of the P. C. Hansen Lumber Company was made this week by Geo. Bonde, veteran businessman of Washington Township. Mr. Bonde announced that the change in stock ownership would in no way affect the principals of business built up by the lumber company here over a period of many years.

P. E. Hygelund will manage the company's yard at Centerville and Milton Ulder, formerly of the W. S. Dickey Clay Products Company has joined the Hansen Lumber Company's staff, Mr. Bonde said. Branch yard will continue to operate in all towns of the Township where they have been located in the past.

HIT AND RUN VICTIM FOUND ON HIGHWAY

CENTERVILLE—An unidentified man, a victim of a hit and run driver, was found dead near Indian Cemetery on the Irvington-Mission San Jose road, near Mission San Jose.

The body was found by Ben Ashton of Mission and John Arnett of Niles who arrived upon the scene simultaneously. The man was lying in the center of the road. He was removed to the Chapel of the Palms in Centerville.

DE GUADALUPE HOLDS ANNUAL TURKEY DINNER

NILES—The De Guadalupe Institute of the Y. L. I. held its annual turkey dinner last Tuesday evening on the veranda of the Lake Merritt Hotel in Oakland, with over 50 members from the Washington Township in attendance. Miss Mary Lucas Nunes was chairman of the committee of arrangements. A musical program was presented during the dinner.

After the dinner, the group retired to a private room furnished by the hotel management where they enjoyed cards the rest of the evening.

Jo Maggiora is the President of the Niles Institute.

MAN HELD ON DOPE CHARGE

CENTERVILLE—Harry Christensen from Russell City was charged with possession of Marihuana on Monday, January 4 in Judge Norris' Court. Christensen was found lifting things from a truck parked in front of the Centerville Garage. Upon investigation and examination of his machine, several cans containing the dope was found and Christensen pleaded guilty.

He was charged with felony and sent to the Superior Court for sentence.

RAIN STILL BELOW PAR SAYS BRAUN

NILES—Only 5.71 inches of rainfall have descended upon Niles and its environs during this whole season, according to Harvey Braun, major weather prophet, contrary to the belief of local citizens that that much had descended upon us on Monday night. Mr. Braun says that the precipitation for this time of the year is decidedly below that for this district during the same time last year. On January 6, 1936 Mr. Braun reported, there was 4.03 inches of precipitation while on January 9 of 1936 that total had increased to 6.07 inches.

"We have not yet during this year had anything to equal that record," Mr. Braun said that at that time 1.63 inches fell in a single twenty-four hour period. "However, do not despair," he counseled, "because the year is yet young and there is plenty of time for more rainfall."

Commenting on the snow situation, Mr. Braun declared that he took little interest in such matters and did not guarantee any more snow. "Personally," he said, "I do not care for snow. Let them as wants snow go where it is." With that, Mr. Braun retired into what poets and novelists refer to as an "ivory tower of silence."

LOCAL K. C. OFFICIALE

The Centerville Council of the Knights of Columbus officiated at the ceremony of initiation at the Hayward Council of the K. of C. in Hayward on Wednesday night. Tight new members were initiated.

PETITIONS ARE PRESENTED TO SUPERVISORS

NILES—Petitions with hundreds of signatures of Washington Township residents were presented to the Alameda County Board of Supervisors Tuesday morning by Bester Robinson of the law firm of Breed, Burpee and Robinson of Oakland. These petitions are the first step in an active campaign by local residents to preserve the Mission intact after completion of the new highway along Vallejo street.

Mr. Robinson, late Tuesday, told the Township Register that the Board of Supervisors referred the matter to the County engineer's office for investigation. He said that the Supervisors will await the engineer's report before taking further action. How soon this report will be available, Mr. Robinson declared it was impossible to say, owing to the fact that the County engineer has the influenza.

Leon Solon and his volunteer committee of Niles residents declared that they are prepared to get together a delegation of local people to push the case further before the board of supervisors if such action seems to be necessary. "Every effort will be made to prove to the supervisors that Niles residents are determined to see that the road is kept open, both from the standpoint of convenience to the entire Township and from the standpoint of safety to all local motor travelers. Whether such a meeting will be necessary will depend upon the attitude of the supervisors after they receive the county engineer's report."

NEWARK—Mr. David F. Supple national officer of the Knights of Columbus and Mr. Leo Cunningham, prominent San Francisco attorney, will visit St. Edward's Parish in Newark, on Sunday, January 24th. The occasion will be a gathering of the Holy Name Society men of the parish.

The men will receive Communion at the 9 o'clock Mass, to be followed by a communion breakfast. Mr. Supple and Mr. Cunningham will address the group on matters of vital Catholic interest. Both are eloquent speakers. An effort is being made through the Holy Name Society, which numbers more than a hundred thousand Catholic men.

ALLEN NORRIS TO INSTALL NATIVE SONS

CENTERVILLE—Judge Norris, District Grand President of the N. S. G. W., will install the officers of the Lake Mount and the Fruitvale Parlor on Friday, January 15.

The Judge will be accompanied by several members from the Washington Parlor.

FATHER SOUSA HONORED BY HOLY FATHER

CENTERVILLE—Reverend Alfred M. De Sousa, pastor of the Holy Ghost Church, Centerville, has been honored by His Holiness Pope Pius XI, with an appointment to the rank of a Domestic Prelate with the title of Right Reverend Monsignor, according to announcement made last Sunday by His Excellency Most Reverend Archbishop Mitty of San Francisco.

The signal honor and appointment of Father De Sousa is cause for genuine rejoicing among not only his friends and parishioners but by the reverend clergy and laity of the Archdiocese of San Francisco as well.

Father De Sousa was appointed to Centerville as Pastor of the Holy Ghost Church in November of 1913, coming from Cotati where he had served as pastor for three years. His first pastorate was in the little town of Buhach in the County of Merced, where he was sent on January 16, 1909 and where he remained until the month of November 1909 when he received his appointment to Cotati.

Father De Sousa was born on October 22, 1872, at Flores Azores Islands, to Joseph J. De Lemos and Mary L. De Sousa. After receiving elementary school education at the Island he was sent to the "Lycee" or High School in the City of Angra, Island of Terceira, Azores. Upon graduation he attended St. Patrick's Seminary in the same city. He was ordained to the priesthood on December 1, 1895 at the Seminary.

His first pastoral work was on the Islands of Flores and Terceira and he came to San Francisco in November of 1899. His first assignment in the Archdiocese was in Mission San Jose where he served from November, 1898 to October 1903. He then made some post-graduate studies at Santa Clara College, 1903 to 1904 after which he was appointed as assistant pastor to San Leandro, where he was stationed from January 1904 to January 1909.

Father De Sousa, who came to the Archdiocese in the Fall of 1899, has rendered splendid pastoral service and has accomplished much practical good for the Church. He not only built and paid for the handsome Church dedicated to the Holy Ghost at Centerville, but has also built and paid for the substantial rectory and parish hall. The parish hall was built by Father De Sousa in 1917 and the rectory in 1920. He then built the Church in the year 1922 and the present parochial residence in 1927.

In his more than 25 years of work and service in the Township Father De Sousa has made many friends who now join with the church in rejoicing at his new appointment.

SUBSCRIBERS

Subscribers should look over the list of candidates, and if they have not already done so they should give their renewal to some of the hard working candidates before the campaign closes. A candidate will appreciate it if a subscriber will call one of them to come for a subscription, or the subscriber may bring it to the Register office, as many do and vote for his favorite. Nothing will please a candidate so much as a few subscriptions, brought in to them as the time is very short and all have many calls to make.

Any one may bring in an advertisement or printing order and help a candidate win The Chevrolet Town Sedan. All orders for $50 or less must be accompanied by the money for same.

Extra votes will still be given on amounts the same as heretofore. See the page advertisement for extra votes.

The standing today includes the coupons and the subscription votes that have been cast but not the reserve. Don't forget that the majority of candidates have reserve votes which must be taken into consideration in the final reckoning.

Miss Janice Silva leads, Mrs. Dick Attinger is second, Mrs. Nell F. Myers third (Miss Margaret Schelbert fourth, 5422 Martha Crane fifth and Miss Leotina Leal is sixth.

With the close of the Township Register's big circulation campaign less than a week away, candidates are leaving no stone unturned that may conceal a few additional votes. It is this spirit of such great activity that much that has made the campaign one honor will be due the victors.

The line-up as shown today may be changed by 7:30 next Tuesday, when the campaign comes to a close. It is possible that the winning votes for the Chevrolet Town Sedan, which was purchased at Roses' Garage in Centerville, local agents may be secured during the last few days.

The closing hour of the campaign is 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, January 19, but candidates will have until 8 p. m. to get their subscriptions in the ballot box.

Advertising and printing that was promised before January 12 but could not be collected for will still be accepted until the close of the campaign. Contracts for more than $50 in advertising will still be accepted if already promised, but all contracts placed in the ballot box must first be passed upon as to their reliability, by the publisher before being voted on no contracts from candidates will be accepted.

Judge Silva of Niles, Mr. Loren Mariott, Cashier of the Centerville Branch, Bank of America and Mr. J. N. Joe California Silvera of the Hirsch store in Irvington have kindly consented to act as judges of the campaign. They are all well known citizens of the Township and after Saturday everything will be in their hands and candidates may rest assured their interests will be safe in the care of these judges.

Candidates are requested to check their votes as they appear today as they must certify their correctness for the judges.

Subscriptions for as many as ten years will still be accepted but double votes are no longer given.

Closing Rules of Campaign—Candidates are again requested to keep their receipt book stubs as commissions will be calculated upon the amounts shown therein, in case they do not win a prize.

Candidates must place only checks for individual subscriptions or cash covering same, in the ballot box as no personal checks covering the total amount will be accepted.

Candidates still receive the difference in votes on extended subscriptions, but not the double votes.

Remember the campaign closes, at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday January 19.

WOMEN ARE NOT LAZIER NOW

By Mrs. C. E. Martenstein
(As told to our Reporter)

I have just read Mr. Duarte's editorial in the Register. He said that it would take a woman to answer his question, and he is right. The answer, as I see it, is, "No, Women are not lazier now".

Perhaps we don't make soap and grind coffee beans as our grandmothers did. But what of it? They didn't drive cars, make public speeches, organize P. T. A.'s, or do a hundred other things that we do.

It is true that my grandmother spent a lot more time with her housework than I do, but that is all she did. Perhaps we seem lazier because we don't make a good pot of soup. Our grandmother used to keep that soup pot on the back of the stove, always warm, for her family of twelve children. But with a modern family of say, four persons, would that be economical? The soup would undoubtedly be spoiled before it could be eaten up, or if forced on the family twice every day, they'd turn against it and never want to look a bowl of soup in the face again. How much more sensible to open a can of the proper size whenever wanted.

And, another thing. The men have put such temptation in our way that we can't resist. It is the men who manufacture all of these ready-prepared foods and pay the best brains of the country to advertise them so attractively. It is the men who arrange such fascinating displays in stores that we are anxious to try the new products. The fact that they can be served with little time and effort is certainly a point in their favor. But using them doesn't mean that we're lazy. Of course not. The modern woman is as busy as her grandmother is.

Take one of my days, a fairly typical one. I got up at six o'clock, prepared breakfast for my family, drove my husband to the train, had a flat tire when I got back and called the garage to fix it straightened up the house, and while doing so was interrupted four times by the telephone, and once by the doorbell this time having to demonstrate to a piano tuner that my piano really was in tune. Also I had to make two or three phone calls myself in order to get some committees working. Then I drove up to Oakland to sew for the Crippled Children's Home. After lunch and more of the sewing I did a little shopping, stopped by for my husband and hurried back to Niles and to the Church to help with a men's dinner, feeding 100 hungry men. After the tables were cleared away, and the dishes washed, home at last. "And so to bed".

Perhaps my grandmother could have done more work but she certainly couldn't have covered more territory in one day.

MRS. BISHOP AFFIRMS

By Mrs. Marie Bishop

Dear Mr. Duarte
After reading your editorial I said to myself, "I believe he's right. I remember the big crock of baked beans my grandmother used to make and how we enjoyed it. I'll just try it myself." And so I soaked my beans, prepared them with molasses, bacon and everything called for. It was hours of work but I felt it was justified, for if the men were longing for homecooked food I'd please my husband for once. I served his plate and stood back waiting for praise. He tasted it and said, "This is a new brand, isn't it? To tell you the truth, I believe I prefer Heinz".

No, I didn't get mad. I was very glad to go back to being lazy again. And if we weren't a little lazy in letting others do things for us, wouldn't you store men be sorry? If we made our own butter, bread and such things, the stores, instead of being busy and hustling as they are today would be just the place where men go to loaf and smoke, sitting around on cracker boxes with their feet on the stove.

And speaking of men, I'm hoping that some woman will write on the subject of men. They have shorter hours in their factories and machines to work for them. Why shouldn't we have shorter hours in our kitchens and machines to work for us?

TUT, TUT FRANKIE

By Gladys Williamson

It isn't that women are lazier—they're smarter! What man would coddle his own shoes? Or raise his own potatoes in his backyard when his job is selling insurance? It's a day of specialization and women are smart enough to take advantage of it. Besides, think of the extra employment for the professional bread-slicers. It's also a matter of economics. It's much cheaper to buy a can of baked beans than to heat an oven for eight hours.

And what do you mean, Frankie women are lazier? Lazier than they used to be, or lazier than men? The female of the species is more deadly than the male—and much more energetic! And what's more, who has a coffee grinder?

MRS. DUARTE GIVES RECIPE

Mrs. Frank Duarte, Jr. recommends the following recipe for a luncheon or as the main entree for dinner. When used for dinner, a little fruit or some kind of dessert and a drink completes the menu. However, for lunch it is a complete meal in itself.

RUSSIAN MEAT BALL

1 lb. round steak, ground
½ cup rolled rice
1 tsp. grated onions
1 tsp. salt
Dash pepper
1 can tomato soup
2 cans water
Combine all ingredients except soup and water. Bring tomato soup and 2 cans water to boil. Make first mixture into little patties. Then put into tomato soup and place in casserole and bake in oven for thirty minutes or until rice is cooked.

CORN BREAD STUFFING

One of the finest old typically American recipes is corn bread stuffing.

It goes back to those early days when home-makers had only meal, laboriously ground from corn, with which to make their bread.

Wild turkey and game had to be stuffed, so they created corn bread stuffing.

Stir up a big batch of corn bread, pop it into the oven until it cooks a golden brown, and do you stuffing!

CORN BREAD

4 cups white corn meal
2 cups boiling water
4 eggs
¼ cup bacon drippings
1 cup evaporated milk
1 cup water
2 teaspoons salt
Pour boiling water over meal and stir well. Add remaining ingredients. Blend well.
Pour into a well greased large shallow baking pan or into small pans, and bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) until brown, about 15 minutes.

CORN BREAD STUFFING

½ cup melted butter
1 large onion, minced
10 cups crumbled corn bread
1½ cups evaporated milk
1½ cups boiling water
2½ teaspoons salt
2 eggs
Thyme and sage
Cook onion slowly in the butter 5 minutes. Remove from fire, add remaining ingredients. Blend well and season to taste. Yield: Sufficient for a 15-pound turkey.
This corn bread stuffing, made with evaporated milk, has a full rich flavor and a moist mealy texture that goes perfectly with roast turkey.
If there's any left over, use it in turkey hash—it gives new zest to an old-time favorite.

QUINTS SLATED FOR NILES IN 'REUNION'

NILES—A statesman and his wife, lonely until an orphan brings them happiness. A fading motion picture star and her girlhood flame! A young doctor, trapped by an unscrupulous woman! An editor fighting to get his youth back again—A young nurse whose love is nearly betrayed! And those inseparable comedy pals, the Quins' father played by John Qualen and the Sheriff who ordered sextuplets from the stork, in the person of Slim Summerville, topped by those famous young ladies five, Yvonne, Cecile, Marie, Annette and Emelie Dionne will all come to the Niles Theatre in the Twentieth-Century Fox production "Reunion" on Sunday and will remain through the Monday evening shows. The story is written around the country doctor who summons the 3,000 babies he brought into the world, now grown up and scattered about in different parts of the earth, to his home town, in a gigantic reunion. The doctor in his humanly way endeavors to straighten out each particular "baby's" problem in this unusual drama.

Joan Bennet and Cary Grant are the feature players of "Wedding Present" showing also Geo. Bancroft, Conrad Nagel and Gene Lockhart which is to be shown at the local showhouse on Saturday. This is a high-speed comedy-romance based on a Saturday Evening Post story by Paul Gallico. Grant, who is the man Joan left behind, with the help of a New York gangster goes to a bar to celebrate and plans the biggest wedding present of all time for his former sweetheart. The companion picture on this bill is "Rio Grande Ranger" with Bob Allen and Iris Meredith.

Errol Flynn and Olivia de Havilland will appear for the last time tonight in "The Charge of the Light Brigade" taken from the screen play by Michael Jacoby and Rowland Leigh, suggested in turn by the immortal poem of Alfred Lord Tennyson.

Entered as second class matter at the post office at Niles, California, under Act of Congress March 3, 1879.

Determined a Newspaper of General Circulation by Decree of the Superior Court (Department 6), of Alameda County, California.

A lot of people, editors included, are saying that newspapers have lost all their influence. They point to the last presidential election, in which Roosevelt won against almost unanimous opposition by the press, as proof. They sigh for the old days of the great editors such as Bennett, Greeley, Waterson and Dana.

Those who say these things are being ridiculous. The press has lost little power to influence readers for the reason that it never had very much.

People always have read newspapers for information and entertainment, rather than for guidance. The few times they have permitted themselves to be guided by editors have been those when the question involved did not affect their pocket-books.

Hearst promoted the Spanish-American war simply because it looked easy to most people and nobody really cared much one way or the other. So with most of the successful editorial crusades of other publishers.

In the last election Roosevelt was elected by those who thought they could trace their own continued personal prosperity to him and who were afraid of what would happen to them if he were defeated.

They behaved just as man has always behaved in similar circumstances.

No argument, however logical, will ever prevail against hunger or fear of hunger.

Every American should read "Huckleberry Finn" at least once a year. It presents, undistilled, the pure essence of America. It is not a child's book. It is a work of sheer genius. Compared with Anatole France, for instance, Mark Twain was an illiterate; but "Huckleberry Finn" outranks much of France as literature.

Pers onnel of the national congress is going from bad to worse. The present house of representatives is, almost without exception, a bunch of penny ante politicians who have no more spirit or understanding of national problems than the Duke of Windsor's dog.

In the last five or six years we have personally met some dozen congressmen during the periods when they were home to build political fences. Every one of them had the tail-wagging manner. All any of them could talk about was the money they had brought to their districts and the jobs they had obtained for their supporters. Never a word about national problems.

The congress has become little better than a pack of political-curs that any strong leader in the White House can lead around.

This state of affairs is not so bad when the occupant of the White House is honest. But if the time should come when a crook is elected president, things will go hard indeed.

Continued complication of labor troubles in the bay region shows more and more clearly that ultimate settlement will have to be by the federal government without much regard for the feelings of either labor or employers.

The prospect is not cheering. Sooner or later, the government will make strike arbitration a matter of law.

Then there will be a mad struggle on the part of labor and employer groups to get their own sympathizers on the arbitration boards. The whole matter will be thrown into politics and the bunch with the most money, will win as usual.

City Life

City apartments in San Francisco are being equipped with a new type of fireplace.

The basic principle involves a gas flame which gives the appearance of a wood or coal fire. Carefully concealed gas jets are placed around the fire box in irregular positions. They are covered with a few handfuls of ashes and two or three partly charred pieces of wood or coal. Then, when they are lit, no one can distinguish them from an ordinary wood fire.

The bums in large California cities are more privileged than are those in the cities of Oregon and Washington. Whiskey can be bought in San Francisco at a price lower than that charged for denatured alcohol.

Seventy-five cents will buy a quart of bonded liquor, guaranteed not to cause blindness. By the pint, it is only 35 cents.

There is an unusually heavy demand for this type of beverage these cold nights when the S. P. tracks, not far from the Bayshore highway at So. San Francisco, are lined with jungle fires.

The view of San Francisco from the Dumbarton bridge on a clear day is not to be surpassed. The town, with its tall buildings, appears to be on an island set in the middle of the bay.

Reno, divorce capital, is becoming a marriage capital as well. Many persons in Washington township go to Reno to be married and for wedding trips.

Reason for this, of course, is the fact that Reno is a pleasure city, easy of access to this part of California. But if any Reno marriage should turn out badly, it is probable that the principals would be content with a California divorce. Reno would have too many memories for them.

On Sunday, we went to San Francisco in that pouring rain to hear the great and world-famous pianist Moriz Rosenthal in his one and only concert in the bay district, at the Veterans' Auditorium. We have heard it said often that the true music lovers in an opera audience are those sitting in the top seats of the gallery—the 50 cent seats (when there are any). We believe that Rosenthal's audience Sunday was made up of true music lovers because they and they alone would venture out in that kind of weather. We recognized the fact that the majority of those present were professional musicians who appreciate and realize an artist when they see one and who went there purposely to see and hear this great 75 year old man who still holds his place as one of the world's greatest piano artists. There were no curious or would-be musicians in the crowd. Of that we are certain.

Rosenthal presented a very interesting program from our point of view. His first number, Sonata Op. 109, in E Major of Beethoven gave him the opportunity of demonstrating to his public how he interprets Beethoven. His Beethoven is very fine. His second number, another Sonata but this time the Op. 58 in B Minor of Chopin, showed us that his Chopin was more interesting and it had true form. His Largo movement of this composition was one

A Friend from Niles

Brickbats

Niles Canyon, Calif.
January 12, 1937

Dear Mr. Editor Man;
It's been quite a spell since I've struck off one of my little pieces for you. It seems to me your paper of late is so chock full of that campaign business that a feller can't get in a word edge-wise. So shove over—you contestants and give an old feller a little bit of room.

How a parcel of females can galivant around the country in this weather is beyond me, they'd better be home, amending their husbands socks (I'll bet they're full of holes this minute). Its hard enough to get outen the warm kitchen long enough to milk my old cows, let alone gadding about fer hours, a-begging honest folks to buy something they already have too many of. Papers, I say! Why I tell ye I have enough of 'em coming here to paper my cow barn, and that's a fact, I'm a-tellin' ye. But then some folks have to keep on, a-going and a-striving fer things they want—or at least-wise think they gotta have—but then, I calculate that's the way of most all human critters.

I allow I shan't take up much o' yer valuable time fer yer must be plumb up to yer neck with all those consarned women folks to look after, etc. So I'll jest tuck one of my little pieces in with this letter. I struck it off the other day I got to cogitating over queer things in general.

Good-Luck to you Mr. Editor Man (and to all them wimmin folks) May the best one o' them win, says I to Samantha, (she's my best cow)

Ever and always,
Your Humble Servant,

JEST COGITATIN'

by

"The Old Yankee"

Everything's different than it auster be,
'Ceptin' my friendly old cows;
Strikes and riots sure are bad—because,
I'm flabbergasted, so I vows—I'd better write a little piece or two,
(I cogitate while pitching hay in mows)
And so, I keep my feet square on the ground;
Its good to hob-nob with the nice old cows.

Behind the barn the oaks and sycamores,
Guard o'er the quiet glade, no violet rows;
No milling, weary, sad humanity—But jest my lazy old, gum-chewing cows.
The Canyon's twilight brings us peace and rest,
It's joy to work with milk-pail, or with plows;
Come weary ones, beneath the stars, and seek—
The still coral—and talk with my old cows!

COLD WEATHER

We believe there is a tendency to exaggerate the damage done by the recent heavy frost. It makes a better story to tell how many million dollars have been lost. Here in the Township we are probably ahead financially. Deciduous fruit men agree that a cold January helps the fruit crop. Most of the fruit trees which shed the leaf seems to require a definite winter pause and January cold makes certain the necessary dormant period. It also tends to hold back unseasonable rising of the sap, and delays the blooming time a little so that there is less danger of the blossoms being hit by frost. It is unfortunate, but true condition that the misfortunes of one agricultural region are often a benefit to others in a similar line of business. If damage is as great in Imperial Valley as the first reports indicate, the pressure will be lifted from the national vegetable supply well into the spring. This should be reflected both in pea and cauliflower prices received here.

PARITY

After 18 years the farmers income has returned to its pre-war parity with the income of town people, according to Secretary Wallace. In four years the return to farmers has increased from 5 1/2 billion dollars to 9 billion dollars per year. The secretary outlines a program by which he hopes to maintain the favorable position of the farmer. New features announced at this time are, plans for crop insurance (commencing first with wheat), increased opportunity for tenants to become owners, and the improvement of housing and standard of living for the farmers in the nation in the lower income brackets. During the next few weeks, no doubt, legislation will be introduced in Congress looking towards the realization of some of these plans.

MUD

One of the everlasting problems of the dairyman in rainy weather is to keep the cattle out of the mud. The finest demonstration we ever saw of completely eliminating mud problem was on the Zwissig ranch. Cement floored corrals led directly from the milking barns to roofed sheds which at that time were bedded deep with sawdust. One rainy morning when we visited this dairy herd comfortably chewing their cud while lying in the deep sawdust we were so much impressed that we almost decided to settle down with them for the rest of the day!

Some of the other Township cows are not so fortunate. They make us think of the incident which occurred in the muddy season in Humboldt County where it rains a good deal more than here during the winter months. A dairyman was going along a muddy lane when he noticed a hat lying at the side of the road. As it was a good looking hat he went over to pick it up. You can imagine his surprise when upon lifting the hat he found a man's head under it! "GREAT SCOTT!!!" said the dairyman, "you're in a bad fix. Can't I help you?" "Oh NO," said the other, "I'm all right, I can get out of here easy, I'm on horse-back!"
